

Become a Community Builder in

Station

A Student Innovation House

Would you like to be part of managing and growing the world first student driven house for innovation? To do something meaningful for groundbreaking student projects and communities while being social?

In Station we are a large group of students creating a unique community and movement together.

Purpose of Station

We as students believe in creating sustainable positive impact. We believe it happens by coming together across disciplines and that it fosters innovation. In Station students from all higher education's come together to create projects, startups, organizations, and activities.

Community Builders make this come true

We work hard to create a culture of connectedness and friendly community. We do so by ensuring the best conditions for our fellow students so that interdisciplinary meetings can happen.

We facilitate and start community activities, recruit students and spread the word about Station.

You can expect

Community. You will be part of a great team consisting of lots of friendly and brilliant students!

Boldness. Station is the worlds first student driven innovation house.

State of the art facilities. You will be part of the life in Station, a newly transformed police station that is originally 100 years old and measures 3700 square meters.

Responsibility. We are for students by students and if you have a great initiative there are wide frames to implement it!

Skills and outcomes. You will get hands on experience going from theory to practice, you will challenge your own creativity and develop an entrepreneurial mindset of "doing it".

What we expect from you

You can plan, coordinate and execute. You thrive in a dynamic environment.

You are comfortable with facilitating and taking the first step.

You are inspired by passionate and engaged fellow students.

You are a team player and open to working with many different kinds of people.

You are a student at or recent graduate from a higher education.

You can dedicate at least 10 hours of your time per week - flexible with exams and holidays of course!

Tasks as a Community Builder could be

Developing or executing community activities and workshops.

Engaging and coordinating with community members (these are students volunteering, running projects and student organisations).

Posts on social media, creating sign up flows and shopping lists.

Engaging people in our café.

You will be working closely with Markus (seen to the right)

"Hi! My name is Markus, student from DTU and I'm working with community building and partnerships here in Station! Station is for me the place where I can connect with other students and inspiring projects. Station has a special role to play in the interdisciplinary ecosystem for students. The people I meet here continues to inspire me and I am driven by extending Station to more people and awesome projects."

Apply by sending him a mail at markus.h@station.dk

